THE COMMAND AND THE PROMISE

Having finished the plan of redemption, our Lord met with those who loved and followed Him, and gave them one last command—"Go with the Good News to all mankind." He coupled with this command a neverfailing promise—"Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." In these words He defined the secret of success in an individual Christian life, a local assembly, or a denomination.

The group of disciples heeded the command. They waited for the Holy Ghost, and after He came they set to work witnessing as He had commanded. As they obeyed, Christ came in their midst in transforming power. They overflowed in their personal experience, and the Church increased at a phenomenal rate. It is recorded that they went everywhere preaching the Gospel. They caught the vision of a world without Christ, and set out to tell men and women about Him.

This command and promise stand to-day. The individual who catches the vision of a world of eternity-bound men who are lost if they do not know Christ, and sets out in true sincerity to tell them of Him, is the only one who can truly claim the last great promise of the Master.

All can go—some by prayer. Prayer warriors who never leave their homes become the world's greatest missionaries. Others by giving their lives; by taking advantage of the opportunities which come in the daily round of life. To some God gives the genius of business. If they correctly understand the will and plan of God, such people can be the greatest missionaries of all. They can consecrate that genius to Him and His service, and provide the money which is essential to let men know that God had a Son who is the Way for their salvation.

The most wonderful event in all the universe took place at Calvary. God is doing all He can towards having men find the Saviour before it is too late. If they are lost it will be our fault in not claiming His last promise.

Ichie Great Commission Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."
